

Workshop: think³ – Philosophy and the Semantics of ‘I’

University College Freiburg / Philosophisches Seminar der Universität Freiburg

Date: December 2–3, 2016

Venue: HS 1108
Kollegiengebäude I
Platz der Universität 3
79098 Freiburg

Organisation: Prof. W. Freitag and Dr. K. Kraus

When speaking about ourselves we often use statements that contain a first person pronoun, such as the English word ‘I’ and its cognates. There has been a controversial discussion whether de se judgments have features that set them apart from other judgments, such as a semantic peculiarity deriving from the first-person pronoun. The aim of this workshop is to address this issue and to explore its epistemological and metaphysical relevance.

Programme:

Friday, December 2

- | | |
|---------------|--|
| 09.15 | Welcome and Introduction |
| 09.30 – 10.30 | François Recanati (Paris): The Implicit Self |
| 10.40 – 11.40 | Herman Cappelen (Oslo): Empathy and Transformative Experiences without First Person Point of View |
| 12.00 – 13.00 | Wolfgang Freitag (Freiburg): Wittgenstein on the uses of ‘I’ |
| 15.00 – 16.00 | Stefan Lang (Tübingen): Performative Self-Consciousness |
| 16.20 – 17.20 | Martine Nida-Rümelin (Fribourg): Self-Awareness and the Concept involved in I-Thoughts |

Saturday, December 3

09.30 – 10.30	Katharina Kraus (Freiburg): Kantian Expressivism
10.40 – 11.40	Mark Textor (London): Lotze on the Ownership of Thoughts
12.00 – 13.00	James Conant (Chicago): tba
13.00	End

Link: <https://www.ucf.uni-freiburg.de/ets-projects>

Participation is free.

Please register: office-ets@ucf.uni-freiburg.de